

Do you want to work as chef in Sweden?

There is a high demand for chefs in Sweden for the summer season, so if you are planning to go abroad for your next career step – Welcome to Sweden!

The Swedish food culture is famous for its traditional dishes but it is also greatly influenced by international cuisine. Furthermore, Swedish restaurants are often very conscious about locally grown food, and paying increased attention to organic produce. The ever-present Swedish nature is thereby often reflected in the menus, with careful respect to seasonality.

The period of employment can range from 2 to 5 months. It's also some employers that offer permanent jobs.

To be considered an interesting candidate, you will have to meet the following requirements:

- 2+ years of experience
- Vocational training
- English communication skills

You need to be willing to share your knowledge and be open to new influences in cooking and different cuisines, as well as being a team player. You have to be prepared to take on various tasks in the kitchen. It is important that you have a genuine interest in service and a true passion for good food.

The working conditions are beneficial, wages and monetary benefits are determined by collective agreements. Working hours are 40 hours per week. Could be more but then you earn accordingly. Employers will, in most cases, offer accommodation at your own cost.

Send your CV and cover letter, both written in English, to: stefania.garofalo@regione.fvg.it + eva.chamoun@arbetsformedlingen.se. Please, remember to describe your skills and motivation and why Sweden is your choice, in your cover letter.

We look forward to your application!